It is always possible to arrange to see Sandy Calder's circus at his studio, 7 Villa Brune, where from time to time he delights his friends by the antics of his animals in wire sculpture. Some of his more abstract designs in the same medium have been shown at the Percier gallery. You can single out Calder at the cafés sometimes by a curiously characteristic cravat, worn against a blue shirt, on the red background of which small acrobatic figures disport in white.
